

JUSTICE (and humor) FOR ALL

(A monthly humorletter) March 2000

This humorletter contains both clean original humor as well as clean bits of humor that have found their way to me via Email. Many times the original author is unknown so if you read something here that you find very funny it's OK to assume that I wrote it.

You have my permission to reproduce and distribute any items you'd like as well as the entire humor letter just so long as you are doing it for free and not for profit.- Enjoy!

WHAT NOT TO SAY TO A COP

I can't reach my license unless you hold my beer.

Sorry, Officer, I didn't realize my radar detector wasn't plugged in.

Are you Andy or Barney?

You're not gonna check the trunk, are you?

Hey, you must've been doin' about 125 mph to keep up with me. Good job!

Aren't you the guy from the Village People?

Humor and Training Tip #34

When presenting ideas to your group, facilitate discussion between members and small groups on why these ideas are valid or how they can be implemented.

When they've finished, have them share their conclusions with the rest of the group and while they may arrive at the same place you did, since it's coming from them they are more likely to believe the results.

Humor Tip #33

When I worked as a comedian in New York, I set a policy to give money to missions instead of street people.

One evening I was stopped at a light and a fellow armed with a squeegee, approached my car. I had apparently just entered his place of business.

He asked if I had a dollar and I told him no. Then he asked for a quarter and I replied that I had no money.

He then said, "Do you have American Express?" I looked up and he had this big smile on his face as he said, "Hey! Lighten up, Man"! I laughed and gave him five bucks!

If you think about it I had told him that I couldn't afford his product and that once the light turned green I was leaving his place of business.

He had nothing to lose so he tried humor. It saved his sale. It can do the same for you.

"How to Ad Lib Like a Professional (or just look like one)"

The sales have been great and reviews are even better!

Send $7 + $2.50 shipping today and see why it sold out within minutes at the Georgia Speakers Association's last meeting.

You'll never speak the same again!
